What is DRW?

Disability Rights Wisconsin is the state's Protection and Advocacy system, charged with protecting the rights of individuals with disabilities and keeping them free from abuse and neglect. Employing a variety of means, our advocates and attorneys use individual casework and systems advocacy to achieve positive changes in the lives of people with disabilities and their families. We are seeking employees who value this work. In turn we treat our employees well, offering a supportive environment, talented colleagues, excellent benefits, and generous leave.

DRW arose out of a disability civil rights movement demanding that the abuse of people with disabilities end and that people with disabilities be included in life, school, workplaces, and communities. Our core values include Diversity, Dignity, Independence, Accessibility, Inclusion, Human Rights, and Liberation.

A diversity-based approach to disability rights recognizes the intersectional nature of oppression experienced by people with disabilities from underprivileged and underserved communities. We strive to create a welcoming and inclusive environment at DRW. We work to specifically address disability-related injustices at the intersections of disability and race, disability and gender, disability, and gender-based violence, and more.

Job Summary

The Family Care and IRIS Ombudsman Program (FCIOP) provides a variety of assistance to Family Care, Partnership, and IRIS enrollees statewide. The Ombudsman works independently under the supervision of the Program Manager and Supervising Attorney(s). The Ombudsman collects case information, investigates complaints, and provides information, guidance, self-advocacy support, consultation, and referrals. The Ombudsman works collaboratively and via negotiation and mediation to resolve enrollee problems, and to provide assistance and/or direct representation with complaints, grievances, appeals and state fair hearings. Ombudsmen also provide outreach and training on FCIOP and rights and issues of adults in long-term care programs.

Key Responsibilities

1. Investigate client's concerns - 30%

- Discuss concern with client / guardian.
- Analyze records / relevant documents.
- Work collaboratively with external entities.

2. Provide guidance / negotiate - 50%

- Information and referral.
- Support in online / telephone / in-person meetings.
- Support informal resolution.
- Develop person-specific strategies and skills to empower client self-advocacy.

3. Written support / representation - 20%

- Utilize data tools to maintain accurate records of case progress.
- Technical assistance / representation at administrative hearings.
- Documentation for grievances and appeals.

Qualifications

Required:

- Four years in paid or unpaid work in providing advocacy to vulnerable people may be considered in lieu of a formal advanced degree or bachelor's degree in an area related to the provision of advocacy services to people with disabilities.
- Direct paid or unpaid experience with people with disabilities.
- Individual case-handling, including investigation, negotiation, and mediation skills and case file maintenance. Ability to prioritize and multitask to manage time effectively and manage multiple cases simultaneously.

- Paid or unpaid experience providing advocacy on applicant's own behalf or someone else's behalf.
- Excellent listening, verbal, and professional written communication skills. Ability to communicate effectively to clients and internal and external entities.
